Access and Equity Policy and Procedure

Term	Definition
Indirect discrimination	Indirect discrimination is the outcome of rules, practices and decisions that treat people equally and which therefore appear to be neutral but which, in fact, perpetuate an initially unequal situation and significantly reduce a person's chances of obtaining or retaining a benefit or opportunity. Rules, practices and decisions are applied to all groups alike but it is the very assumption of a likeness that constitutes the discrimination.
Systemic discrimination	Systemic discrimination is a system of discrimination perpetuated by rules, practices and decisions that are realised in actions that are discriminatory and which disadvantage a group of people because of their status or characteristics and which serve to advantage others of different status or characteristics. Direct and indirect discrimination contributes to systemic discrimination.
Sexual harassment	Sexual harassment is defined by the Victorian Equal Opportunity Act 2010 and the Commonwealth Sexual Discrimination Act 1984 as when a person: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Makes an unwelcome sexual advance or an unwelcome request for sexual favours • Engages in unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, and a reasonable person would have anticipated that the person harassed would be offended, humiliated or intimidated.

Policy

This policy affirms the commitment of CAC in implementing principles of access and equity at Central Australian College by:

- Ensuring that training and education services are available to all students by creating a workplace and a training environment that is free from discrimination, harassment, bigotry, prejudice, racism and offensive behaviour.
- All students and staff will receive fair and equitable treatment in all aspects of training and employment regardless of ethnicity, gender, age, marital status, sexual orientation, physical or intellectual impairment.
- Grievance procedures will be available to ensure that any concerns are dealt with immediately and appropriately.
- Where possible, a range of support services or appropriate referrals will be provided to students with special needs.
- CAC's policy and procedures will be monitored and reviewed to ensure that they recognise and incorporate the rights of individuals.

In order to achieve the above mentioned policy statements, the Director/ CEO shall arrange for:
